

Vancouver Airport and Port Expansions

Vancouver Airport Expansion - The Vancouver International Airport Authority (YVR) announced plans to implement a U.S. $1.03 billion capital program over the next ten years. Opportunities abound, as YVR undergoes massive expansion projects to accommodate the expected increase in passenger traffic and the upcoming 2010 Winter Olympic Games.

Vancouver Port Expansion - The Vancouver Port Authority recently announced expansion plans for its Roberts Bank operation. The US$ 167 million expansion plans for the Roberts Bank location include two distinct projects. The first project, expansion of the existing Delta Port, entails expanding current port facilities by 50 acres for operations and storage, and adding a third berth. This project is currently undergoing environmental assessment, which is expected to be complete by 2005. Construction will start after this point, with completion expected by 2008
